IN THE NICKNAME OF TIME

Thank you so much for making "Calvin and Jobs." I used to love Calvin and Hobbes and I loved the parody you guys did. I also like how you did the same thing with Cathy and Amy Winehouse. Why wasn't The Strip Club in last month's issue? It's one of the best parts of the magazine. And where did Bitterman go? P.S. Don't make fun of my name with Gryffindor because that isn't that original.

Griffin Benzel, letters@madmagazine.com

Gryffindor — We never claimed we were original. Thanks for reading! —Ed.

MAKE A DUMB WISH FOUNDATION™

There is a long story behind this note card. My aunt gave them to me when she saw my Bar Mitzvah thank you notes. I tried not to choke from laughing and throwing up at the same time. So for my dumb wish, I would like you to publish the front of this note card, but somehow vandalized.

Andrew Rybczynski, Baltimore, MD

Rybeye — At the MAKE A DUMB WISH FOUNDATION™, we're all about making readers wishes come true. But in your case, how can we possibly mess with perfection and vandalize such an impeccable work of art? We would be doing Red Farm Studios (the makers of this card) a disservice. Please thank your aunt for us, because the only thing that needs changing is your attitude! Congratulations on becoming a man! —Ed.

READER ALERT

Election Day is coming up, which means Alfred E. Neuman needs as much help as possible if he's going to lose in style. So we're asking you, dear readers, to take the poster in this very issue and hang it in a store window, on a telephone pole, even at the voting booths. Take a picture of your handiwork and we'll print the best ones in an upcoming issue. Remember, if we all work together, we can secure an Alfred victory and America can have its dumbest President yet! (Well, second dumbest!) Send pics to letters@madmagazine.com or via snail mail to Amy "The Big Poster" Vozeolas, c/o MAD Magazine, 1700 Broadway, NY, NY 10019.

MAD CELEBRITY SNAPS

When I found out Bill Clinton would be stumping for Hillary at my old middle school (East Middle, Martinsville, IN), was my first thought to go and hear his take on all of Hillary's presidential ideas? No! My first thought was to go and get the former-Commander-in-Chief of all Celebrity Snaps! Well, as our current Commander-in-Chief would say, "Mission Accomplished" (for real)!

Brenner Williams, Martinsville, IN

Brenner Off Dead — Great snap! But we have a question — was there an open bar at this event? Bubba is looking a little tipsy! Congrats on your three-year subscription! —Ed.

BUBBA AND BRENNER

TURNING DAUGHTER INTO WHINE

I just wanted to ask the powers that be if they have any insight into what has happened to my 11-year-old daughter? My daughter stayed three weeks during the summer with her cousin in hotter-than-hell Phoenix, Arizona. Anyway, when I arrived at the airport to pick her up, I did not recognize her right away because she had a short bob with bright purple streaks in her hair, she wore all black with black skinny jeans, black slip-ons, black nail polish, black bag and a MAD magazine under her arm (and an apathetic, sarcastic attitude to boot)! I wanted to blame her aunt and cousin at first, but upon further in-depth inspection of said magazine, I have come to the conclusion that they are not entirely responsible.

Christina Collins, Vista, CA

Collinoscopy — She's dressed all in black and reading MAD? Sounds like she's mourning the death of her good taste! —Ed.

THE SOAK'S ON YOU

Earlier, when I was getting out of my bath, I almost spilled water on my new issue of MAD! It was so close that I now do not read my MAD in the tub anymore. I cannot take the risk of it getting wet.

An important message from MAD's Director of Business & Development,

JEFFREY LOZENGE

It was once said, "Don't shoot until you see the whites of their eyes." It was also once said, "Don't shoot!" And it was also once said, "Please pass the chicken gravy."

My point is that people say a lot of things. And I say a lot of things too, for example, everything I just said. Which brings me to MAD — yes, MAD — the magazine whose time is and was and continues to be — also says a lot of things. But the less said about that the better.

Someone else who wasn't me once said, "Give me liberty or give me death." Whoa Nellie! (This is me talking again, not that other guy who wasn't me.) Who wouldn't choose liberty over death? That's a no-brainer!

"Give me liberty or give me MAD!" That's a tougher one. But thanks to the brave soldiers of the American Revolution you don't have to decide!

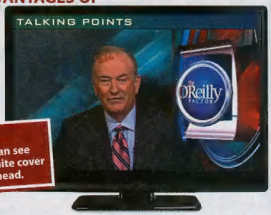
ADVANTAGES AND DISADVANTAGES OF HIGH DEF TV



ADVANTAGE
When watching Blake Lively on Gossip Girl you can tell when they're keeping the show's set just a little too cold — if you know what we mean.

DISADVANTAGE
When watching Bill O'Reilly you can see that the pancake makeup doesn't quite cover the "666" birthmark on his forehead.

ADVANTAGE
Grey's Anatomy in high def is so detailed, people without medical insurance can learn how to perform their own surgery!

DISADVANTAGE
When watching America's Next Top Model you can see the thin line of dried-up vomit around the mouths of several models.

DISADVANTAGE
24 becomes REALLY unbelievable when you can clearly see that Jack Bauer doesn't have a single scar after 5 years of being shot, blown up, beat up and run over!

ADVANTAGE
When you watch Extreme Makeover: Home Edition you won't feel bad about your own screwed-up home improvements — now that you can see the sloppy paint jobs, cracked ceilings, and crooked nails from Ty Pennington trying to rebuild an entire home in just 5 days.

Gasp! You're nothing but a filthy freak! You destroy everything you touch! There isn't a speck of human decency anywhere in your sick, psychotic body!

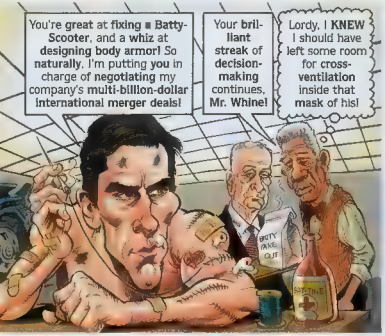
You fake Battymen wannabes need to go home! Nobody wants you! Nobody needs you!
Well, that was harsh!
Dude. Nice nipples!



You're great at fixing a Batty-Scooter, and a whiz at designing body armor! So naturally, I'm putting you in charge of negotiating my company's multi-billion-dollar international merger deals!
Your brilliant streak of decision-making continues, Mr. Whine!
Lordy, I KNEW I should have left some room for cross-ventilation inside that mask of his!

The two men in my life finally meet, face to face! It's a ticklish personal situation, but you're handling it with class, maturity and sophistication!
You know it! I've got sophistication running out my ass!
Well, that sets the "boyfriend bar" nice and low! As long as I refrain from picking my nose during sex, I'm golden!

Ha ha ha! Add "Free estimates," and you've quoted my whole business card!

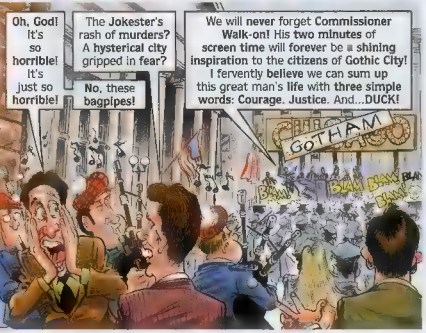
I'd like to say a few words on behalf of Harvey Dink! Sure, he looks like a beady-eyed Jeff Daniels stand-in, but he must have some good qualities we don't know about! Speaking of good quality, check this out! I've upgraded to THREE babes! So, Harvey, go marry my old girlfriend who you supposedly love sooooo much! Just remember, that's billionaire you're tasting! I'm Bruce Whine, and I approved this message!
That speech was still more heartfelt and sincere than when Hillary Clinton endorsed Obama!

You look very familiar! Didn't I go camping with your brother once?
I'm not afraid of you! The concrete pavement sixty stories down, though, now THAT scares me!
Did I ever tell you how I got these scars? I was working at an exotic pet store, and the owner bet me five bucks I wouldn't French klss a pms-ing ocelot!



Oh, God! It's so horrible! It's just so horrible!
The Jokester's rash of murders? A hysterical city gripped in fear?
No, these bagpipes!
We will never forget Commissioner Walk-on! His two minutes of screen time will forever be a shining inspiration to the citizens of Gothic City! I fervently believe we can sum up this great man's life with three simple words: Courage. Justice. And...DUCK!
GOTHAM

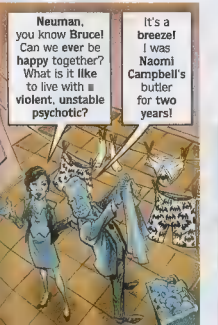
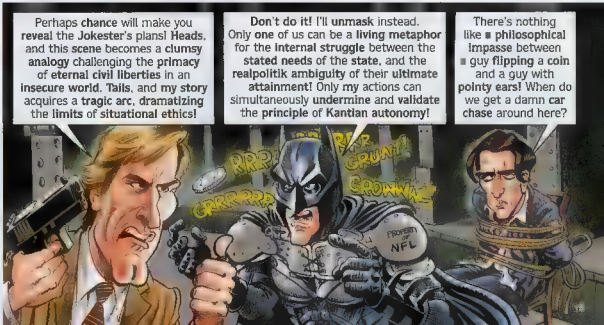
Me? The Jokester has picked me as his next target? I know the perfect spot to hide! Bruce Whine's penthouse is the safest place in Gothic City!
You mean the exact same location where the Jokester just barged in two days ago, and dropped you out the window?
Uh. Yeah. Good point! But it's so high up, you can't beat the phone reception when you're dialing 911!



Neuman, you know Bruce! Can we ever be happy together? What is it like to live with a violent, unstable psychotic?
It's a breeze! I was Naomi Campbell's butler for two years!



Perhaps chance will make you reveal the Jokester's plans! Heads, and this scene becomes a clumsy analogy challenging the primacy of eternal civil liberties in an insecure world. Tails, and my story acquires a tragic arc, dramatizing the limits of situational ethics!
Don't do it! I'll unmask instead. Only one of us can be a living metaphor for the internal struggle between the stated needs of the state, and the realpolitik ambiguity of their ultimate attainment! Only my actions can simultaneously undermine and validate the principle of Kantian autonomy!
There's nothing like a philosophical impasse between a guy flipping a coin and a guy with pointy ears! When do we get a damn car chase around here?

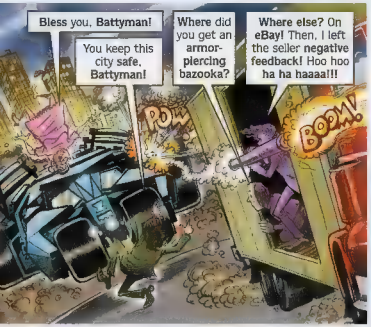
Hey, look! At the big press conference to reveal Battyman's true identity, we've got 100 reporters, 100 cops, 100 politicians, and for no apparent reason, bajillionaire Bruce Whine! There's nothing suspicious about that!
This is a Battyman press conference? Phooey! I assumed it was yet another elected official admitting that they're gay!
Remember, the night is darkest just before the dawn! The only thing to fear is fear itself! United we stand, divided we fall! Snug as a bug in a rug! The squeaky wheel gets the grease! And now, since I've run out of vapid clichés, you may arrest me! I am Battyman!



Bless you, Battyman!
You keep this city safe, Battyman!
Where did you get an armor-piercing bazooka?
Where else? On eBay! Then, I left the seller negative feedback! Hoo hoo ha ha haaaa!!!

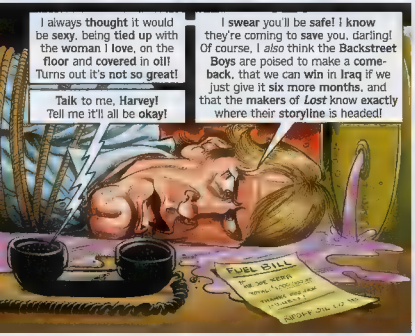
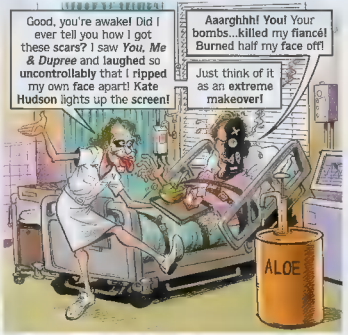
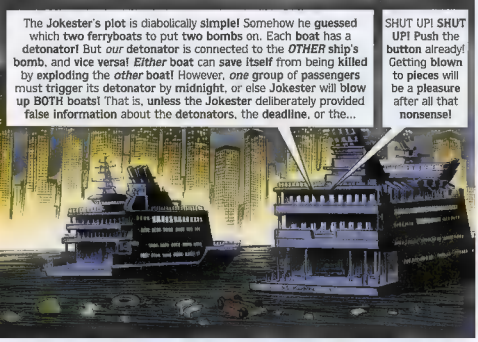
Gently! Gently! You'll smear my makeup!
You have the right to remain silent, especially after I knock you unconscious! You have the right to have an attorney present during questioning! If I were you, I'd pick one who's a blood donor match!
Aha! Listen to Battyman's ridiculous growly, gravelly voice! I just figured out his secret identity!
Cookie! Me want cookie!



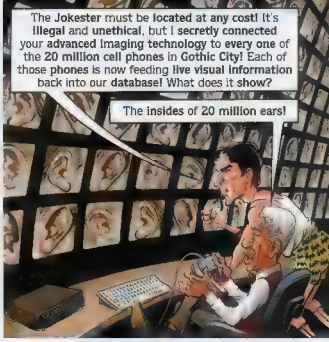
I always thought it would be sexy, being tied up with the woman I love, on the floor and covered in oil! Turns out it's not so great!
Talk to me, Harvey! Tell me it'll all be okay!
I swear you'll be safe! I know they're coming to save you, darling! Of course, I also think the Backstreet Boys are poised to make a come-back, that we can win in Iraq if we just give it six more months, and that the makers of Lost know exactly where their storyline is headed!
FUEL BILL



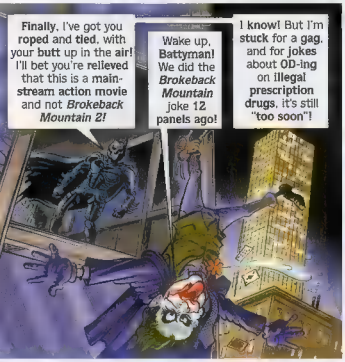
Good, you're awake! Did I ever tell you how I got these scars? I saw You, Me & Dupree and laughed so uncontrollably that I ripped my own face apart! Kate Hudson lights up the screen!
Aaarghhh! You! Your bombs...killed my fiancé! Burned half my face off!
Just think of it as an extreme makeover!
ALOE



The Jokester's plot is diabolically simple! Somehow he guessed which two ferryboats to put two bombs on. Each boat has a detonator! But our detonator is connected to the OTHER ship's bomb, and vice versa! Either boat can save itself from being killed by exploding the other boat! However, one group of passengers must trigger its detonator by midnight, or else Jokester will blow up BOTH boats! That is, unless the Jokester deliberately provided false information about the detonators, the deadline, or the...
SHUT UP! SHUT UP! Push the button already! Getting blown to pieces will be a pleasure after all that nonsense!

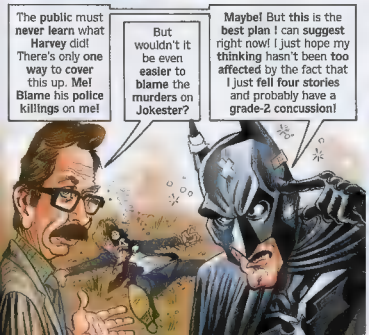


The Jokester must be located at any cost! It's illegal and unethical, but I secretly connected your advanced imaging technology to every one of the 20 million cell phones in Gothic City! Each of those phones is now feeding live visual information back into our database! What does it show?
The insides of 20 million ears!



Finally, I've got you roped and tied, with your butt up in the air! I'll bet you're relieved that this is a mainstream action movie and not Brokeback Mountain 2!
Wake up, Battyman! We did the Brokeback Mountain joke 12 panels ago!
I know! But I'm stuck for a gag, and for jokes about OD-ing on illegal prescription drugs, it's still "too soon"!

Heads, your boy lives! Tails, he dies! A flip of my coin will decide!
What about my wife and daughter? Or Battyman? Or myself? Or you?
Okay, have it your way! Let's decide this with a game of Yahtzee!



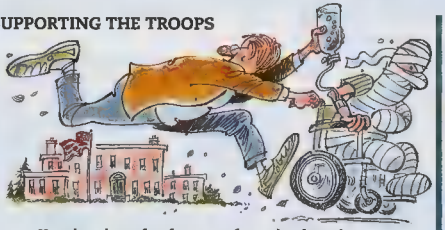
The public must never learn what Harvey did! There's only one way to cover this up. Me! Blame his police killings on me!
But wouldn't it be even easier to blame the murders on Jokester?
Maybe! But this is the best plan I can suggest right now! I just hope my thinking hasn't been too affected by the fact that I just fell four stories and probably have a grade-2 concussion!

Now that you're being hunted by the police, I've whipped up a snazzy cloaking device for your Battymobile! It'll help you escape detection as you drive on your nightly patrols!
Forget it! I can't afford to keep running the Battymobiles anymore, plus the Battycycle, and a Battyplane besides. With current gasoline prices, I'm bankrupt!

Back when the Iraq War started, we couldn't help but notice that the buzzwords and catch phrases emanating from the White House and Pentagon weren't exactly meshing with reality. With the mission already accomplished, we hurriedly assembled a collection of examples and rushed them into print in MAD #438. We wanted to make sure that our article made it to publication before the war ended, Iraq was quiet, and all the troops were already home. As it turned out, we could have taken our sweet time about it. So what's the situation on the ground four years later? The oil might be getting scarce, but the B.S. is flowing just as freely as ever! And so, we present the second of what we never thought would turn out to be a long, long series...

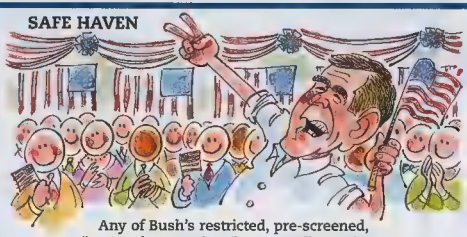
MAD'S UPDATED GLOSSARY TO THE WAR ON TERROR

SUPPORTING THE TROOPS



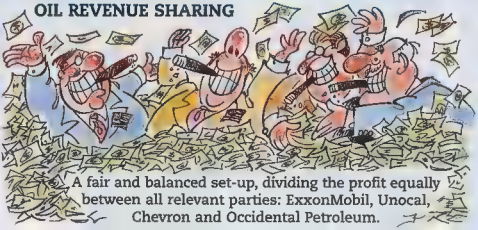
Keeping them far, far away from the decaying hellholes that are our Veterans' Hospitals.

SAFE HAVEN



Any of Bush's restricted, pre-screened, "no touchy questions" Town Hall meetings.

OIL REVENUE SHARING

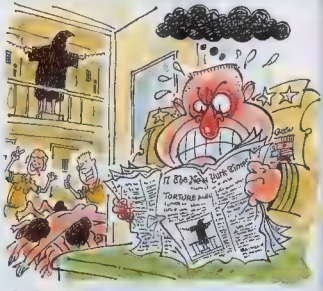


A fair and balanced set-up, dividing the profit equally between all relevant parties: ExxonMobil, Unocal, Chevron and Occidental Petroleum.

EXTRAORDINARY RENDITION

The "high C" note ■ prisoner makes when 25,000 volts get shot through his nutsack.

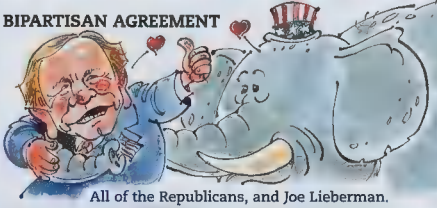
PRISON TORTURE SCANDAL



The horrible, scandalous fact that somebody blabbed about the prison torture.

WRITER: DESMOND DEVLIN ARTIST: PAUL COKER

BIPARTISAN AGREEMENT



All of the Republicans, and Joe Lieberman.

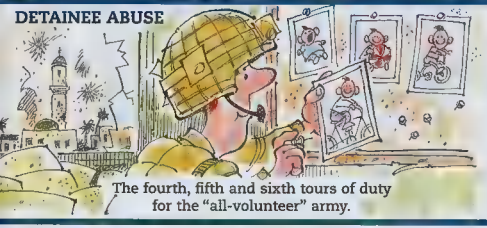
"STUBBORN POCKETS OF RESISTANCE"

The three-fourths of Americans who, according to the polls, don't think Bush is doing a darned good job.

"PROVIDING AID AND COMFORT TO THE ENEMY"

$5.00 per gallon.

DETAINEE ABUSE

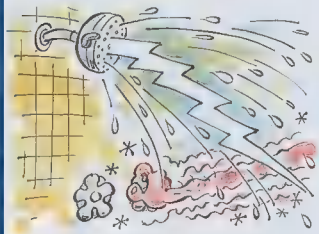


The fourth, fifth and sixth tours of duty for the "all-volunteer" army.

"ENTERING A DRAMATIC NEW PHASE"

Getting one's ass booted from the Bush inner circle, and then claiming you were secretly against the war all along.

"THE SURGE IS WORKING"



The last thing noticed by the dozen U.S. soldiers who've been electrocuted in the shower by the ungrounded wires installed by incompetent Halliburton profiteers.

THE LIGHT AT THE END OF THE TUNNEL

Something Iraqis enjoy, during the 2 hours a day Baghdad has electricity.

CUT AND RUN

A phrase which, oddly, is most often used by the same politicians who cut our soldiers' combat pay, cut their furloughs, and cut their insurance and health benefits, and then run for reelection as gung-ho patriots.

THIS MONTH: COUNTDOWN WITH KEITH OLBERMANN

8:40 Olbermann lightens the mood with his "Best Persons in the World" segment, focusing on the mishaps of dumb criminals, drunk criminals, or dumb drunk criminals. (But not the ones who fly on Air Force One.) The final miscreant gets an extra-special reward: their very own ironically-chosen music snippet.

Dom Grillo was arrested at an Omaha Home Depot, trying to shoplift a belt sander by stuffing it down his pants. Luckily it wasn't plugged in, or this photo would have been taken at the Nebraska Women's Prison.
What you gonna do with all that junk, all that junk inside your trunk?

8:48 Rush Limbaugh mocks others. Sean Hannity insults them. Ann Coulter reduces them to simplistic cartoons. There's only one intelligent way to rise above this kind of stupid, hyperbolic Right-Wing rudeness: Call them "The Worst Person in the World"!

And today's Worst Person is Billo The Clown...even though The O'Reilly Factor is in reruns and he's on vacation, I just wanted another chance to show that clip of him going ballistic 15 years ago on Inside Edition...Billo The Clown, Today's Worst...Person...In the World!!!!!!
WORLD'S Worst
We'll do it live! #$@& it! We'll do it live!
INSIDE

8:50 With scathing multisyllabic anger, Keith Olbermann launches into one of his "Special Comments." These extra-long opinion pieces only appear on the rare occasions when Olbermann is sufficiently moved by the maelstrom of political events to scrutinize the particulars for posterity. Or else when Michael Musto cancels and they have to fill time.

Now I get to recycle the same complaints from today's show, but in essay form. Some say I'm providing a great service to America. That's ridiculous. I say I'm providing THE great service to America. Did that Colonial nobody Thomas Paine ever get 200,000 hits on YouTube? Try "zero." So while my mouth is forever saying "Shame on you, Mr. Bush," my heart is saying "Thank you for giving me a career."

8:58 Eight minutes and six sentences later, the "Special Comment" nears its finish. It's the third densest chunk of words on television, after the "express written consent of major league baseball" disclaimer, and the list of disgusting side effects from boner pills.

8:59 In one final explosion of egomaniacal klepto-indulgence, Olbermann steals Ted Koppel's "number of days since..." nightly update, Edward R. Murrow's signoff line AND David Letterman's glass-breaking paper gag.

That's all for this, the 2,009th day since "Mission Accomplished," and the 2,008th day since I reinvented myself from an ESPN asswipe who gurgled stale catch phrases in between San Antonio Spurs highlights and became MSNBC's golden boy. Good night and, for me, incredible good luck.

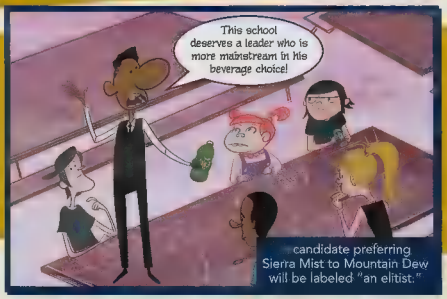
The road to the White House is paved with wild accusations and vicious name-calling. The halls of high school also house their share of rumors and taunts, but for some reason, class elections are relatively civil (except, of course, for an occasional pantsing). With all eyes on election coverage this year, the dirty and despicable tactics used in the presidential race are bound to inspire the political hopefuls running for student government.
Here's what to expect...

WHEN HIGH SCHOOL ELECTIONS ARE RUN LIKE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS



candidate preferring Sierra Mist to Mountain Dew will be labeled "an elitist."

The level of a candidate's school spirit will be continually called into question.

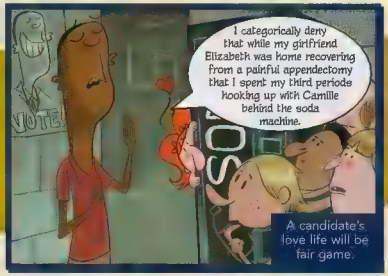
Unlike my opponent, if I was told by the coach that I couldn't visit those injured running backs, and I was there and wanted to be there, I guarantee you, there would have been a seismic event. Go Cougars!

A candidate will be severely criticized by his opponent for claiming to support the football team but failing to visit injured players after a big game.

When the prom-planning committee calls with a decorations crisis, you want the person answering that call to be tested and ready to lead in a dangerous world.

A candidate will question her opponent's ability to handle a 3 P.M. phone call.

It's clear from my opponent's support of a 200% increase in the budget for new sticks, that he's in the pocket of "Big Ice Hockey."
A candidate will point out his rival's ties to "special interest groups."



I categorically deny that while my girlfriend Elizabeth was home recovering from a painful appendectomy that I spent my third periods hooking up with Camille behind the soda machine.
A candidate's love life will be fair game.

Those difficult times when I was held captive in a gym locker for several periods and had my head dunked in a toilet have helped shaped my policies and made me the student I am today.
The candidate will try to exploit his experience of being tortured as evidence of his strength.

Ich bin ein Grover Cleveland student!
In an effort to bolster his image as an "experienced and respected leader," candidate will go on a multi-city speaking tour of other high schools.

Being four months older, I find my opponent's perspective on current cafeteria issues immature and bordering on naive.
The older candidate will trumpet his maturity and experience.

This guy is talking down to Home-Ec students. I wanna cut his nuts off!
Bitter losers from previous campaigns will take cheap pot-shots from the sidelines.

THE FUNDALINI PAGES

QUESTIONS YOU MAY HEAR DURING THE VICE PRESIDENTIAL DEBATES

If elected, you wouldn't actually root for the President to die, would you?
What kind of Vice President will you be: evil like Dick Cheney, bumbling like Dan Quayle, or boring like Al Gore?
If there's one thing you'd like to tell both of our viewers, what would it be?
Who's on your short list for Vice President when you run in 2016?
Is your spouse prepared to take over the duty of leading White House tours?
Tell me, Gov. Palin: McCain's just playing a prank, right?
Were you anxiously awaiting word of whether or not you were the pick, or were you like the rest of America?
What would you do in Iraq if....ah, forget it. It's not like you'll be in a position of power.
Gov. Palin, you were in a group that favored Alaskan secession. What are your views on kicking New Jersey out of the Union?

THE "REAL" REASONS Harry Potter and the Half Blood Prince WAS DELAYED

- Waiting for Axl Rose to deliver the soundtrack was a huge mistake.
- Chinese-made wands gave half the cast lead poisoning.
- They ran out of film, because in 2008, almost all available film stock was commandeered for getting shots of Angelina and Brad's twins.

◀ If the film had come out in 2008, all the commercials featuring a powerful, wrinkly leader would have been misinterpreted as McCain campaign ads.

- Contract negotiations with the Owls' Union broke down.

LEAST POPULAR HALLOWEEN COSTUMES OF 2008

BITTERMAN

THE DORK KNIGHT

I'm Battyman! Despite my costume, some have suggested that Bruce Whine is my real mask — that I hide behind black-tie champagne parties, 400-foot yachts, and unemotional group sex with runway models who'll never know the real me! How long can a person keep living a lie? Me, I'm giving the pretense just 30 more years. Maybe 35, if my knees hold up!
What drives me to do this? I could have used my hundreds of billions to fund youth centers, neighborhood watch programs, and enhanced urban security. Or I can dress up like a giant rodent and punch guys in the nose — my choice was clear!
I used to think it was bad driving Miss Daisy. But now I'm just the auto mechanic for Mister Crazy! In this story, there are actually two of us in charge of manipulating stiff mechanical props — myself, and Christian Bale's vocal coach!
I've invented, designed and hand-built an entire line of futuristic gadgetry and weapons: Batty-cars, Battycycles, Batty-costumes, Batty-computers, Batty-bombs, you name it! But no one must know about my work! So I'm forced to do everything by myself! That is, when I'm not busy running the company, doctoring the books, and jetting back and forth to Hong Kong! That workload may explain my physical appearance...I'm only 28 years old!
With Gothic City falling to pieces, it only makes sense that they'd choose a police commissioner who looks like Disney's Chicken Little! When I took over, corruption was rampant and the mob had its hooks in the department! But now, I run a clean, honest police force, along with my trusted personal lieutenants, Officer Vinnie Two-Chins and Officer Carmine the Octopus! They've assured me that it's just a streak of bad luck that 50 of our formerly mounted police have woken up to find their horse's severed head in their bed!
Hoo hoo hoo hee! Say hello to the most terrifying big screen vision of the year, not counting Pierce Brosnan singing ABBA songs! Mamma mia! At heart, I'm just a man who loves to laugh! But I laugh at senseless destruction! I laugh at chaos, and pain, and anguish! I can find the humor in anything! Except that Dane Cook guy. Just not a fan!
The scariest thing about me is my insane unpredictability! You never know what I might do next! Like when I bombed a hospital! Or when I bombed a city jail! Or when I bombed a judge's car, or bombed a warehouse, or tried to bomb two ferryboats...okay, so maybe you have a tiny inkling of what I might do next!
BUDDA BUDDA BUDDA BUDDA!
A good butler always uses his discretion for keeping secrets! Like Mr. Whine's secret identity! And his secret love! And apparently, his secret elevator that secretly leads to the secret basement that we're supposed to assume was secretly built smack in the middle of a preexisting skyscraper without anybody noticing! You know who else needs a secret identity? The screenwriter who came up with this impossible bushwah!
In the accursed, hellish nightmare that is Gothic City, there's only one solid and permanent thing for the citizens to rally around — my incredible hair! Last week, I was on the covers of the Harvard Law Review and GQ! These pretty boy looks didn't hurt in stealing away Bruce Whine's old girlfriend, Radish Dawson, either. She's TOTALLY into me, and me alone! My only concern is that she can't get aroused unless we have sex on top of the Batty-signal!
I'm emotionally torn between Bruce Whine and Harvey Dink, two men who share the same goal of cleaning up this city! Everyone has a "type," and mine is schizophrenic, obsessive-compulsive do-gooders! Oh, well, at least I still pick 'em better than Jennifer Aniston does!
But I can never give myself fully to a man who's addicted to a rubber suit! Except for that one time in Cancun, but I was young and really drunk! I love Bruce, I do. But how can I live with a man who could get himself killed at any moment, and who has no heirs of any kind, leaving me as a 30-year-old widow with a 400 billion dollar inheritance? Er...on second thought, maybe the Jokester isn't the craziest one in this movie!
Hold it! What about ME — Katie Holmes? I'm the only performer from the last movie to be replaced! Even the freakin' Scarecrow got a return cameo! How bad an actress do I have to be, to not be up to the thespic challenge of nailing dialogue like, "You came back. But the man I loved is still missing"? My luck might've been different if my husband, Tom Cruise, had been chosen to play the Jokester! Unfortunately, after the producers saw him cackling and bouncing on Oprah's couch, they said he was way too over-the-top for the role!

THE CHAT 'N THE STAT DEPT.

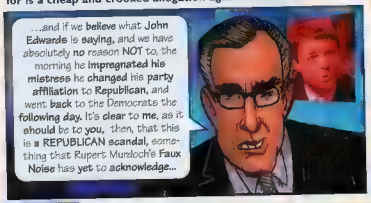
To make a great news show, you need a likeable, knowledgeable host who has a calming, even-handed approach to the news. He should have keen, fresh insights into the events of the day and be able to express them clearly and concisely. But until we find that show...

MAD Deconstructs TV Talk Shows

THIS MONTH: COUNTDOWN WITH KEITH OLBERMANN

8:00 We hear the first words from Keith Olbermann: "Which of these stories will you be talking about tomorrow?" Chances are it'll be the same ones as yesterday. Because Countdown basically only DOES one story. Republicans suck — we get it!

8:01 Time for the lead story. If there's one thing that Keith Olbermann will not stand for, it's a cheap and crooked allegation against a Democrat. Countdown schedules time for wronged officials to rebut the newest attacks and provides exhaustive fact-checking to expose the hypocrisy of the Right. Because at the end of the day, the one thing Keith WILL stand for is a cheap and crooked allegation against the G.O.P.



...and if we believe what John Edwards is saying, and we have absolutely no reason NOT to, the morning he impregnated his mistress he changed his party affiliation to Republican, and went back to the Democrats the following day. It's clear to me, as it should be to you, then, that this is a REPUBLICAN scandal, something that Rupert Murdoch's Faux Noise has yet to acknowledge...

8:05 To break up the monotony of Olbermann bitchslapping Republicans all by himself, the first of Countdown's grumbling heads gives his view about why the Republicans bite. And what a lineup: a "thinks-the-same-way" MSNBC host, a disgraced Nixon henchman, or a sleepwalking Newsweek reporter. The last time we saw balls that big, Indiana Jones was running away from one.

8:11 Olbermann moves on to Story #2, which isn't that different from Story #1. It's kind of like driving from Nebraska to Kansas, in that the landscape is so similar, you're not really sure you've gone anywhere until you spot a road sign. Here, the road sign is a clearly marked "title" to the news story, using one of Countdown's ubiquitous puns.

John McCain had an ugly growth removed today and no, I'm not referring to Joe Lieberman. We're calling this story "Face the Inflammation," though "Melanoma's Diner" or "Too Benign or Not Too Benign" would have been good, too. Make no mistake about the real point of this story, though — McCain is old and shouldn't be President!
FACE THE INFLAMMATION
LIVE

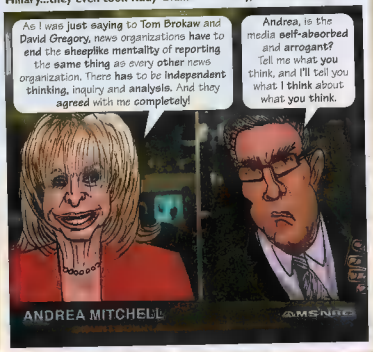
8:16 Keith now lets members of the media give their detailed opinions about how the media gets the details wrong. These are the same talking heads that repeatedly screw up the polling data...they salivated over the way Fred Thompson was going to "shake up" the GOP race...they wrung their hands waiting anxiously for the super-delegates to flip the nomination to Hillary...they even took Rudy Giuliani seriously, for God's sake!

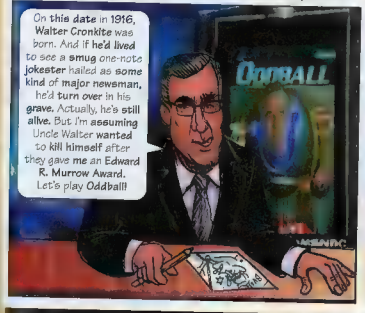


As I was just saying to Tom Brokaw and David Gregory, news organizations have to end the sheeplike mentality of reporting the same thing as every other news organization. There has to be independent thinking, inquiry and analysis. And they agreed with me completely!
Andrea, is the media self-absorbed and arrogant? Tell me what you think, and I'll tell you what I think about what you think.
ANDREA MITCHELL
MSNBC

8:23 Next, Olbermann blasts George W. Bush for living in an echo chamber filled with yes men and ignoring outside viewpoints. He does this from a hermetically-sealed television studio in the presence of off-camera MSNBC staffers who chuckle heartily at the same quips they just copy-edited and typed into Keith's teleprompter.

Bush and his cronies may have emptied our nation's treasury, sacrificed the lives of thousands of soldiers and ordered the Justice Department to rubberstamp their crimes, but one thing won't change — those big ears of his!
Hee hee hee!
Ho Ho!

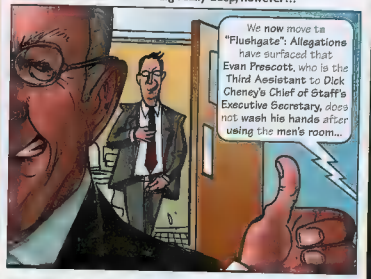
8:29 Keith commemorates something truly noteworthy that happened that day — the birth of Gandhi, or the discovery of the Salk vaccine, or Jackie Robinson breaking baseball's color barrier. This 20-second mention is followed by two full minutes of time-wasting, inconsequential tripe. It's Olbermann's one tip of the hat to current network news practices.



On this date in 1916, Walter Cronkite was born. And if he'd lived to see a smug one-note jokester hailed as some kind of major newsman, he'd turn over in his grave. Actually, he's still alive. But I'm assuming Uncle Walter wanted to kill himself after they gave me an Edward R. Murrow Award. Let's play Oddball!
ODDBALL
MSNBC

8:30 The world isn't really getting weirder, it's just being videotaped more. On the funky footage segment called "Oddball," a boa constrictor is good. A panda is better. A boa constrictor eating a panda is better still. A boa constrictor marrying a panda is a smidge better than that. Whereas a robot boa constrictor fighting a robot panda to the death on a Japanese game show is what we all live for. Because after a bland diet of campaign finance reform flipflops and off-shore drilling talking points, viewers need the cleansing sorbet of a shirtless dwarf getting stuck in a toll booth coin basket.

8:33 Next up is the "Bushed" segment, the nightly reveal of scandals plaguing W and company. Presenting a fresh trinity of disgraces every night does push the Countdown researchers to dig really deep, however...



We now move to "Flushgate": Allegations have surfaced that Evan Prescott, who is the Third Assistant to Dick Cheney's Chief of Staff's Executive Secretary, does not wash his hands after using the men's room...

In fact, no presidential candidate in our nation's history has even come close to sporting the GOP nominee's lifetime experiences.
